POLITICS LIVELY IN COUNTY SEAT.*Finishing Touches Will Be Put on Campaign
This Week.*LEADERS THROUGED UNIONTOWN

On Saturday and Among Them Disseminators of Information Were Conspicuous at Democratic Headquarters—Civic Leaguers Active.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 25.—The finishing touches to the political campaign in Fayette county will be put on this week. Political leaders thronged Uniontown on Saturday. Some of them didn't get away until yesterday. At Republican and Democratic headquarters there was a hum of activity. It gave but a suggestion, however, of what is to come the latter part of this week, especially next Saturday, when the campaign will practically be closed.
District leaders and "men with influence" were much in evidence.
Nearly all of them made a bee line for Democratic headquarters as soon as they landed in town. Whether or not there is any reason for it, the impression is pretty general among Disseminators of information that the Democrats are in the market for political assistance.

Civic Leaguers with celestial signals flaming were on the scene early and late, it is stated, in an effort to get a line on the Dissemi. (Up to date, however, their work has been confined chiefly to writing advice and sounding warnings to the voters.)

At Republican headquarters the campaign is moving along smoothly.
Chairman P. A. Johns is conducting his fight quietly, confident that the Democrats can not overcome the big Republican majority in the county. He says he expects a complete Republican victory one week from tomorrow.

A rather peculiar incident has been noted in the filing of a statement by John C. Brownfield, Tax Collector of South Union township, in the Commissioners' office covering the period from April 12, 1909, the date he began collecting, to October 15, 1909. On glancing at his reports one might think that he had issued 1,116 receipts and that he had collected 1,116 and end at number 1,116. However, on closer examination it appears that he had skipped 350 numbers.

By Act of Assembly every Tax Collector must furnish each person, on the payment of taxes, with a numbered receipt, setting out date, etc., from a book to be furnished by the County Commissioners containing a stub on which memoranda of contents of receipt must be noted. And twenty days before each election the Tax Collector must send a report to the office of the County Commissioners containing the number of each receipt issued, date of payment, name of taxpayer, amount of tax and district in which taxpayer is assessed for the period since the last report.

Warnings have been sent out that anyone voting on any of the 350 receipts left blank by Brownfield will be prosecuted for illegal voting.

The Voters' Civic League of Fayette county issued a statement Saturday calling on the voters of the county interested in a pure ballot to send them information of anyone approaching a voter with money or liquor for the purpose of influencing his vote. The league promises prompt prosecution.
They also advise a close watch for persons who attempt to vote without being residents of the district for 60 days. Citizens are also urged to keep a sharp lookout for bogus tax receipts.

Taft's Voice Gone.

So Hoarse He Cannot Do More Than Smile in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—(Special.)— President Taft arrived here early today and smiled a silent greeting at the crowd which had gathered. His hoarseness is very bad and under his doctor's orders he will probably not speak for a week.

He was the guest of the Blaines Mrs. Llewellyn at breakfast and made a brief address at the Coliseum. This afternoon he will speak at the dedication of the new Federal building in East St. Louis.

COMES TO CONNELLVILLE.

Charles Donnelly is Transferred Here From Lockport.

Charles Donnelly, son of J. J. Donnelly of Green street, who has been assistant agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Lockport for the past three years, has been transferred to Connellville and will take up work at the Baltimore & Ohio seats.

Will Get Warmer.
Fayette tonight and Tuesday, slowly rising temperatures Tuesday, is the usual bulletin.

SETTLING PAVING ASSESSMENTS.*More Than Half of the Back Claims of the Borough Will Be Paid Up by Saturday, Officials Say.

More than half of the back paving assessments will be adjusted amicable before the time comes for filing them against the various properties that are affected, the way for which was paved by the passage of a special ordinance authorizing the collection of the amounts due.

It is expected by Saturday a complete list can be prepared by Clerk A. O. Bickler showing those who have paid and those who still back in reflecting a settlement. Those who do not pay their assessments by November 5 will have liens entered against their property.

The Race Street property owners, who registered an emphatic protest against their assessments, are rapidly coming to the front. The Connellville Steam Laundry Company, which has the greatest frontage on the street, has paid its assessment and others are rapidly falling in line. The same spirit is evidenced by property owners along other streets that were included in the ordinance. It is believed that the number of liens entered before November 5 will be comparatively small.

NO STRIKE ON*Answer of Railroad Officials in Reply to Dissident Rumors.

"We have no strike." That is the answer made by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in response to an inquiry whether negotiations would be opened looking for a settlement of the labor troubles at the shops here.
Chief Clerk W. O. Schoonover, in the office of Superintendent J. J. Driscoll made the above statement.

The railroad officials say they are having no difficulty in handling the rapidly increasing freight tonnage.

HURLS CHARGES AT OUR CHINESE POLICY*Henry George, Jr., Says Government is Playing Into Hands of the Monied Interests.

(Copyright 1909 by United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—With the expressed opinion that the present policy of the United States in the Far East is being shaped solely in the interests of a group of Wall street fin-anciers, and that no benefit to the nation can result, Henry George, Jr., son of the great single taxer and publicist today declared that trouble is certain to result and will probably cause the American army and navy being called to fight the private battles of American monied interests under the guise of "upholding American honor."

Mr. George has just returned from the East. He said he believed the resignation of Minister Charles Crane was forced by the monied interests.
He said the government has practically forced other countries to allow our bankers to participate in making the $40,000,000 loan to China and larger loans are to be made in the next few years.

He believes another Boxer uprising is possible. He said China is unable to run the country, the American army and navy will be called to collect. He pointed to the fact that loans cause most of the modern wars.

He says the syndicate is embroiling the country in trouble soon to come in China, either through quarrelling among foreigners over the division of the spoils or an uprising of the "chinese against the blood-sucking foreigners."

TEMPERANCE SUNDAY*Will Be Held by W. C. T. U. on November 28.

At a meeting of District No. 3 of the W. C. T. U., held Saturday afternoon, at the Carnegie Free Library, arrangements were made for a Temperance Sunday to be observed in this district on November 28. Temperance rallies will be held in Connellville, South Connellville, Mill Run, Ontonoye and Dundar.

Arrangements were also made to hold a district institute in January, 1910. At this time a medal contest will take place.

PENNSYLVANIANS MENTIONED.*Root and Hoyt Talked of for Supreme Court Vacancy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(Special.) Chief Justice Fuller today announced from the bench the death of Justice Peckham and court adjourned for a week.

Many are mentioned as possible successors to the position made vacant, among them Judge Horace L. Burton of Nashville, Tenn., Henry Hoyt and Secretary of State Knox of Pennsylvania, and Secretary of War Dickinson of Tennessee.

COAL CARS WRECKED.*On the S. & C. Branch But No One Was Hurt.

A wreck of several coal cars on the Somerset & Cambria branch last evening held up the passenger trains on that line and passengers bound for Connellville and Pittsburgh did not arrive here until on train No. 3 this morning.

No one was injured in the wreck and the only damage done was the upsetting of the coal cars, and the tearing of some track.

State Fall Kills Miner.
Joe Stinson, a Slavish miner, was instantly killed in the Nelly mines, near Vanderburgh, this morning at 10 o'clock, by a fall of slate.

RECONCILIATION MADE IN BUFFALO.*Rocco Cinba Sees Wife for the First Time in Seven Months Saturday.*SHE WAS WITH ANOTHER MAN

The Two Men Came to America Seven Months Ago and Then Paramount Sent Money For Woman to Join Him—Chief Rottler Effects Settlement.

The presence of two warts on her face resulted in the apprehension of Mrs. Rocco Cinba in Buffalo, by Detective Flynn, and her subsequent return, with her husband, to this region.
Chief of Police Rottler, returned from Buffalo yesterday, accompanied by the woman and her husband. The return of the woman to her husband was not effected without considerable trouble on the part of the Chief.
The woman had committed no crime in this State and the New York authorities were inclined to hold her for confining with Joseph Giganti in Buffalo.

Sinba and Giganti came to this country seven months ago. One came to the Erie region, while the other secured employment in Buffalo. Unknown to the husband, Giganti sent money to Mrs. Sinba and had her join him in Buffalo. She brought her youngest child with her and left two other children in Italy.

Through the medium of a letter, Sinba learned of the presence of his wife in Buffalo and took the matter up with Chief Rottler. He secured the apprehension of both of the parties in the New York city, but when he went to get them, learned for the first time that the woman had never been in Pennsylvania. That complicated matters. Giganti employed an attorney to defend him and the lawyer also sided with the woman, who did not care to come back to her husband. Extraordinary papers were necessary, under the circumstances, and it is questionable whether these could have been secured.

The matter was finally adjusted by having Giganti and Mrs. Sinba discharged from court in Buffalo. Then she returned to her husband only after it was made plain that she could not only be sent up on serious charges, but might also be deported for making false representations to the immigration authorities when admitted to this country.

After having the situation explained, the woman agreed to return and a complete reconciliation was effected between husband and wife. The two had not seen each other since Sinba sailed for America seven months ago.

Mrs. Sinba had with her a 11 months old child which is seriously ill.

A FALSE ALARM.*Sent Department to Carnegie Library Saturday Night.

"The Carnegie Library is on fire." That is the word from a strange woman over the telephone at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Without delay she plugged box 35 and before the first blast of the siren whistle had blown the woman was on her way out Pittsburg street.

When they arrived no trace of a fire could be found. The fireman made inquiries about the neighborhood but could find no trace of a fire or of the woman who turned in the report. The firemen returned to their quarters in disgust. A large crowd assembled when the alarm was sounded.

Application For Charter.

An application for a charter was filed at Uniontown Saturday by the St. Cyril Slovak National Catholic Church of Monaca. The application is signed by 17 petitioners of Ma-sontown and German township.

Peckham Funeral Wednesday.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(Special.)
The funeral of the late United States Supreme Court Justice Rufus W. Peckham, will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Baby Found In Box.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 25.—The finding of an infant mailed up in a small box in Catholic creek yesterday has caused a sensation.

KYLE MINE IS FLOODED WITH NATURAL GAS.*Over One Hundred Miners Were Driven From Their Work This Morning When Big Main Broke, Turning Gas Supply Into the Mine.

Special to The Courier FAIRCHANCE, Oct. 25.—The 150 miners employed in the Kyle mine of the F. C. Frick Coke Company near this place were forced to flee for their lives this morning when a fall of coal broke the main pipe line of the Kyle mine and flooded the entire workings with the death dealing vapors. Fortunately all the men were able to reach the surface in safety. Safety lamps are used in this mine and this was all that avered a terrible catastrophe.

The supply of gas was cut off as soon as the officials of the gas company could be notified of the accident, but work was suspended in the mine.
By 1 o'clock this afternoon the break had been repaired but it will be to-

TO CLOSE CENTENNIAL FINANCES*Rockwell Marietta, Chairman of Committee Says Meeting Will Shortly Be Called.

Rockwell Marietta, chairman of the Centennial Executive Committee, stated this morning that a meeting of the committee would be held shortly to straighten up the affairs of the celebration. He is anxious to have a final meeting of the Centennial Committee and has been urging it among the men who were active in the Centennial work. Owing to the misplacing of some papers in connection with the finances it has been impossible recently to get the committee together.
With Kilpatrick has the data well in hand, but as the papers and books were removed in the removal of the bank to its new building the papers became misplaced. It is probable that they will be sorted out this week.

"Just as soon as we can get the data in shape we will straighten up the Centennial affair. I am anxious to have that matter straightened out," said Mr. Marietta this morning. "If there is a balance in the treasury then we can let the people know and they can do whatever they want with it. I think it is time to settle up. All the bills have been paid, but the record should be clear and that's the way I want it. I think maybe we can get it shaped up now in a short time."

EIGHT TIMES WED; SEVEN WIVES GONE.*Otto Mueller Is Under Arrest Suspected of Wholesale Crime.*SKELETON BRINGS EXPOSURE*Remains of Young Bride Give Police a Clue and They Are Working on Case of New York Man Who May Have Second Herman Hoch.

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Coroner Savage of Suffolk county is prepared to place a formal charge of murder against Otto Mueller, arrested last night at Astoria, where he was living with his wife and two children under the name of Fred Gebhardt. He is now held in Brooklyn under a charge of bigamy pending the completion of the case against him.

It is alleged by the authorities that nearly a year ago he deceived his wife of a few months, Anna Luther, Miller, to Islip, murdered her and after robbing the body hid it where the skeleton was found a week ago.

According to the wife with whom he was living when arrested, she is the eighth woman Mueller has married. What became of the other seven is a problem the police are trying to solve. They accuse Mueller of murdering a number of them.

The wife told the police how she met Mueller. She said she had saved $500 and wanted to get married. She arranged with a Mrs. Berser, conductor of a matrimonial bureau, for a "nice man," and married Mueller. She gave him her money early in 1905 and in February, 1908, he disappeared, leaving his wife and children destitute.
Later he wrote from Germany, sending money.

It was during this period that he married Anna Luther. Mrs. Gebhardt declares her husband brought trunks home filled with clothing and trinkets marked with the initials, "A. L."

Mrs. Henry Wernup today positively identified Mueller as the man who married Anna Luther.

RUSHING IMPROVEMENTS*On Garwood Plant of Dunlap-Connellville Company.

The Dunlap-Connellville Coke Company, in which many Connellville people are interested, is pushing the work of improvements at its Garwood plant along the Monaca. A large air compressor is being installed and two machines for undercutting have been placed in operation. An additional battery of 25 ovens is now being constructed by J. K. Gatas & Sons and these are being completed at the rate of one a day.

It is the object of the company to construct 125 ovens. The present contract will bring the oven capacity up to 57. Coke is being shipped from the plant every day and the output will be constantly increased as the new ovens come in.

R. D. Layton Dead.

Robert D. Layton, aged 63, an active worker in labor organizations at Pittsburg and immigrant inspector of that city for a number of years died yesterday.

New Political Club.

The Slovak Political Club of Uniontown has been formed. John Petric of Connellville is one of the organizers.

No New Patients.

No new patients were admitted to the Cottage State hospital over Sunday.

overrow morning before all the funes had been fanned out of the workings.
The accident happened at 6 o'clock this morning. From that time until this afternoon Fairchance and the territory north of here which is supplied by the Star Gas Company was without gas for domestic and manufacturing uses.

BUSINESS NEVER BETTER ON B. & O.*Sunday Night Was a Record Breaker for Traffic Out of Connellville.*NEED MORE MOTIVE POWER

Railroad, It is Said, is Unable to Handle the Immense Volume of Traffic That is Swamping it at All Points.
16 Hour Law at Work.

Probably one of the busiest nights in the history of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was Sunday. There were five sections of train No. 97, the fast westbound freight. Each section carried a record-breaking load of 44 cars. It was a struggle to get the trains over the road with the heavy eastbound shipments of coal and coke and several of the crews had to be changed owing to the 16 hour law.

The Cumberland yards are filled with freight, both west and eastbound, and crews are being turned as quickly as possible in order to keep the freight moving in both directions. The through freight amounts to greater proportions than ever before, while the motive power is inadequate and only with the delivery of new engines will relieve the situation.

Saturday the company was compelled to relinquish its shipments to the Illinois steel company from Leckrone.
The Baltimore & Ohio has been handling the C. L. S. & E. shipments from this point with great regularity but owing to its inability to continue it on account of the rush of business on its main lines it has been given up.

Railroad men say business was never better. Every regular man has employment and the company is employing all men who apply and pass the examination. There is a demand for workmen at every division point. This is well illustrated by the working of what the railroaders term the "bird law." Since the new sixteen hour regulation went into effect it has never been very effectively tested on the Con-nellville and Pittsburgh divisions until this time. It was seldom that a man over worked up to sixteen hours and his working was not definitely known.
Now it is a daily occurrence for railroad men to learn what the law really means. No matter on what part of the road the time is up the crew ceases its labor and the train is sidetracked.
If the crew is making for Connellville and have 40 minutes to make it from Indian Creek, their time ceases and the train is held over until another crew can come to the rescue.

Many amusing stories are told of how crews get in within a few minutes of the expiration of their time, while others are waylaid in the mountains. The company makes an effort to carry the crews to some division point on passenger trains and frequently of late the Duquesne Limited has been stopped to get the men to their resting place. Most of the freight conductors, since the game season started, are carrying their guns with them and when laid out in the mountains go gunning until they can get to their resting place. As a rule the railroaders do not like the law in operation as well as they did when it was talked of. Their period of rest begins from the moment they are laid out and often they have a long ride on their trains before getting to bed and must be ready to report within 8 hours, which means that it is necessary to get out of bed an hour before being called. But with it all railroaders are rejoicing over the good time they are making.

BABY BURNED TO DEATH; IGNITED OWN CLOTHES*A Negro's Heroic Effort to Save the Little One's Life Proved Unavailing.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 25.—Helen Belley, aged three years, was so fatally burned Saturday afternoon that she died seven hours later. Mrs. Belley left the child alone in a room and the infant began playing with fire. She deliberately ignited her clothing and was a mass of flames when Mrs. Belley returned. A negro, James Hamilton, happened by at the time and grabbed the child from the frightened mother.

Wrapping the child in his big rubber coat, Hamilton smothered the flames, but the child was so badly burned that she died late Saturday night.

SIR THOMAS ARRIVES.*Red Hot to Challenge the New York Yacht Club.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(Special.)— Sir Thomas Lipton arrived here today aboard the steamship Cedric. He said, "I've come over this time red hot for another challenge to the New York Yacht Club and will do my best to arrange matters so I can have another chance to lift the cup. At present I do not care to talk until I have seen the club committee who have the matter in charge."

The failure of a new pump at the Washington, Pa., water station has caused a failure of supply. The town has been without water from the mains since Friday.

Inspection Thursday.
Pennsylvania officials on Thursday will inspect the Southwest division.
The foreman with the best section of track will get a cash prize of $500.

Gold Dust Makes Dish-wash- ing easy

The use of a little Gold Dust in your dish-water will make your dishes whiter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever can be without it. Unlike soap, Gold Dust does more than clean the surface. It goes deep after germs and hidden food particles, and sterilizes everything it touches.

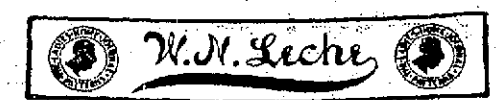

Gold Dust does all the hard part of the work without your assistance, because it begins to dissolve and clean the moment it touches the water.

When you have to wash dishes 100 times a year the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor, means something.

Yes, this corset does look long, very long, but it is most comfortable, in fact you will realize with one day's wear that it is the most comfortable corset you have ever worn.

QUITE RIGHT!—It is hipless, and this is as it should be since it is the fashion to practically abolish the hips, although not sharply defining the waist. This is part of the secret. Ashamed to Talk in Police Court, Worried About His Dog.

GOT 72 HOURS JUST THE SAME

Arthur Cominsky Arrested for Abusing Abe Seig of the West Side and Pays $5.00 Fine—Other Ordinary Cases Tried Sunday Morning.

James J. Strouthers, a negro of Monarch was so ashamed at being pinched for his dog that he declined to talk in police court yesterday morning. Instead, he wrote Burgess Byas a letter, in which he said:
"I would like for you to be lenient with my case for I have a very serious matter to attend to at home. For when I left home yesterday I took my dog up in the house. And he can not get anything to eat. I have not got the money to pay my fine. But if you let me go I will bring you the money. Think not that I am hollering because I am in. You have my word. I will bring the money to you if it is a fine. Of course I would be ashamed to stand and talk to a man after acting a brute and getting drunk that is the reason I write. Please let me go home. I remain a friend."

Burgess Byas decided James had best remain in the bustle 72 hours so the negro telephoned to Monarch to have his dog turned out.

IS DEMOCRACY FLIRTING WITH THE SUFFRAGETTES?

The Uniontown Genius is fascinated by the Suffragette movement since Colonel Bryan's daughter has been mentioned as a candidate for Congress in Colorado. It says:

The right to vote is denied all citizens until they have reached the age of 21, and in most of the States half the citizens—and the best half, by the way—are not allowed to vote at all.
And the people who do vote and the Legislature elected by the voters absolutely refuse to grant this better half—the women—the right of suffrage.

The Bryan Democracy has evinced a willingness to embrace anything which gives even remote promise of assistance in winning the victory which they have striven frantically and unsuccessfully for during two disap-

LEADS OFFICERS A LIVELY CHASE.

Mueller Held in Connection With His Wife's Murder.

SOLVING SKELETON MYSTERY

Expressman Gives Detectives Tip by Which They Trace Man Wanted in Connection With Long Island Murder—Mueller Makes Mad Dash.

New York, Oct. 25.—Otto Mueller, the husband of the woman whose skeleton was found in the woods near Central Islip, L. I., last week, was arrested last night in Astoria after a lively chase by three Brooklyn detectives. He has been living in Astoria under the name of Frederick Gebhardt with a woman and two children.

A pair of German bred dogs brought about Mueller's arrest. The detectives learned that when Anna Luther Mueller and her husband left Germany they brought with them to this country two dogs of unusual appearance and breed. The dogs happened to catch the eye of an expressman, who took them from the pier in Jersey City, where the ship had landed, to 357 Woolsey avenue, Astoria.

The detectives traced the express company and the driver. The driver was able to recall the address to which he had delivered the dogs.

After getting this tip the detectives put Mueller, or Gebhardt, as he was known in Astoria, under observation. They built up a case against him which warranted the police say, in arresting him.

Last night about 8:30 o'clock the detectives went to the house. Just as they ran up the sidewalk Mueller made a dash to get away. He was seen across lots and over fences. After a sharp chase they grabbed him and got him to the station house in Astoria. Later he was transferred to the Brooklyn police headquarters and locked up.

Hunted Just in Time.

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Confronted by one of his wives in court here John J. Temper of Newburgh admitted he already had five wives and was on his way to marry a sixth, Miss Mary E. Maine of New London, Conn. The woman who identified her husband in court said he had wooed her under the name of John S. Keister at Norwood, N. Y.

The prisoner said he had married his last four wives under the name of Keister. His first wife, he said, was Mrs. A. Wilson of Newburgh, N. Y., whom he married twenty-five years ago. Wife No. 2 was a Mrs. Lyman of Utica, N. Y., whom he married in Camden, N. J., in 1898. His next venture was in 1900, with Miss Essie A. Meyers of Westminster, Pa., while in 1905 he married Miss Louise Gilbert of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. His last wife was Miss Carrie Allen of Norwood, N. Y., whom he married in Camden last June.

NO TIME TO QUIT

Declares Governor Harmon, in Controversy With Garber.

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—"To withdraw now would be cowardly; I am going on and try to show the people of Ohio that I'm a good governor; it would be far better to go down in defeat than to quit in the face of fire."

In these words Governor Harmon has thrown the gage of battle at the feet of Democratic National Committeeman Harvey C. Garber. He will express no opinion on recent attacks against him, but will go on and win again, and that after he wins he may have a word or two to say about "our friend" Garber, as he terms him.

East Norton, Mass., a trapper and hunter, has completed a fur coat which he hopes to present personally to Mrs. William H. Taft at the White House in a few weeks. The coat is made of 133 skunk skins. Each of these skins has been specially selected and is cured by a process known only to Goff.

Record Revenue For Pennsylvania.
Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 25.—State revenues have broken all records. The total income thus far for the fiscal year aggregates $28,564,301. The aggregate for all of last year was $25,- 862,548, and for the year before $23,- 425,866.

Great Throng at McCarran's Home.
New York, Oct. 25.—So great was the throng of mourners around the home of the late Senator Patrick H.
McCarran that half a dozen policemen were necessary to keep the crowd moving. Flags were everywhere at half-mast.

Small Shipping Damaged.
Yera Cruz, Mex., Oct. 25.—The terrific storm which swept the lower part of the Gulf of Mexico is believed to have done much damage to small shipping interests. It came without warning and many boats were unable to make places of refuge before the wind struck them.

LADY COOK TO GIVE $1,000,000 FOR THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE CAUSE.

Lady Cook, the Tennessee Chaffin of thirty-seven years ago, who went with her sister, Victoria Woodhull, to London street jail for the cause of woman suffrage, is chief sponsor for Mrs. Parkhurst, the English leader, now in this country, and they are planning a crusade that is destined to cut a figure in the news of the next months if not in the political world itself. Lady Cook soon after her arrival with Mrs. Parkhurst took the English militant Englishwoman to London street jail and showed her where she and her famous sister were locked up. Lady Cook said there were so many charges against them that they could not give bond on all and had to stay in prison six weeks. Lady Cook has announced that she will contribute a million dollars for the cause of equal suffrage in the United States.

SOLD IMAGINARY MINES

Clever Stranger Signs Up Several Thousands Dollars.

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 25.—Representing himself to be the president of a company which owns rich gold mines in the west, armed with letters of recommendation apparently written by eminent mining engineers and displaying telegrams purporting to be from the superintendent of the mines showing large quantities of ore ready for shipment, a stranger has obtained thousands of dollars from business men of Johnstown, Ebensburg and other points in this county during the past week.

To secure buyers they were getting gold-edge securities, the supposed agent gave a draft for $100 to every person subscribing for $1,000 of the 7 per cent stock, to be paid by the Philadelphia office of the company Oct. 1.
Those who bought stock sent these drafts to the office at Philadelphia, but all were returned dishonored.

WEIGHTED DOWN BY STONES

String Breaks and Would-Be Suicide Is Rescued by Fishermen.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Ignatz Lehnert, a former German army officer, whose mind is believed to have been unbalanced by the horrors he went through during the San Francisco earthquake, attempted to end his life by drowning. He was under the impression that he was wanted in his native land for the murder of two persons.

With a large stone tied by a strong string about his waist he leaped off the breakwater at the foot of Harrison street in addition to the weight of the stone, Lehnert was weighted down with three suits of underwear, two coats and three pairs of trousers.
These acted as a buoy when the string broke and the stone sank. The high waves washed him back against the breakwater and he was rescued by fishermen.

HUBBY WANTS HIS WIFE

Mormon Mother-in-Law Kidnaps Gen-to restore his wife to him.

Mrs. Young, backed by a large Mormon community at Farmington, where she resides, declares she will fight the case to the bitter end. Her daughter left home for the county fair, met Allen and they ran away and were married. As soon as Mrs. Young learned of it she went to Allen's home, found he was absent and forced her

GOVERNOR CURRY ACCUSED

Serious Charges Brought Against New Mexico's Executive.

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 25.—A. M.
Jackley of Alamogordo, N. M., has filed serious charges against Governor George Curry. He asks Secretary of the Interior Ballinger for the removal of Curry.

Secretary Ballinger was here in conference with Curry. While no definite announcement of Curry's resignation is given out it is rumored that Curry told Ballinger he would hand in his resignation to the department of the Interior within thirty days.

His courage, count. Father won't hurt you. Why, he told me only yesterday that if he had to pay so much for you he certainly wouldn't do anything to damage you.—Life.

HANLIN PROMOTED.

To Executive Position With Tonopah & Goldfield Railroad.

Connellsville friends of Harry R.
Hanlin, formerly of Pittsburgh, were advised yesterday that he had been promoted to senior officer of the Ton-opah & Goldfield railroad, in Nevada, in charge of all departments, reporting direct to President and General Manager Center, of Philadelphia, whose appointment was announced a few days ago.

Mr. Hanlin is a protégé of Colonel Robert Finney, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in Pittsburgh, having served under him as chief clerk, assistant trainmaster and trainmaster. While there is a vast difference in railroad operating methods east and west of Chicago, the dividing line, Mr. Hanlin, who, until a few years ago, spent all his time in the east, has "made good" in the west.

Cook Means to Sue Author of Affidavit Attacking His Claims.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—Dr.
Frederick A. Cook is about to begin legal proceedings in the Mount Sic-kley controversy which may take a criminal libel turn against Edwin Barrill, the guide.

Today Dr. Cook proceeded to Missoula, Mont., the home of the mountaineer who so frankly accuses Dr.
Cook of fixing data to bolster up the foundation of his book, "To the Top of the Continent."

Dr. Cook's legal representative already is on the ground and has indicated that "inducements were of-

Little Stories Of Big People.

TOM L. JOHNSON.

Tom L. Johnson, who has been renominated for mayor of Cleveland, began life as a newsboy and at one time had accumulated a fortune of $5,000,000. After selling papers on trains for some time he went to Louisville, where he became an errand boy at $2 a week. Later, when he was fourteen, he was picked up as a good proposition by a Louisville horse car line at $7 a week.

In three years he had become its superintendent and finally owned so many lines that he was called the street car king. At the age of twenty he found a Kentucky girl with whom he proposed a life partnership.
Seeking his prospective father-in-law, he confided that the girl was willing.

"Well, you have your nerve with you, boy," said the parent.
"If I have my nerve with me," replied Tom, "but I have also those two hands and this head."

The prospective father-in-law capitulated, and the pair were wedded.

Clyde Fitch, the most prolific of American dramatists, who died abroad recently, said one day of a jeweled watch that had been sent him by a Scottish admirer in Peebles:

"A jewel watch from Peebles—how strangely unexpected! It reminds me of an open air performance of 'As You Like It' that I once rehearsed."

"I rehearsed this amateur performance in a garden that was overlooked by a building operation. As my amateurs possessed and chanted the 'hard's beautiful lines above us hid bricks, carpenters planed boards and masons chipped stones."

"And one afternoon, during a silent pause in our rehearsal, we heard a voice from the building operation say generally:
"I prithee, malapert, pass me your dar brick."

CHAPTER XVI.
ARRIVING AT THE TRUTH.

THE inquiry at the Durant works to establish responsibility for the failure of the Sommers gun was simply organized. Mr. Durant put the entire matter in the hands of Bradley, giving him authority to question everybody connected with the work and if possible to bring out the entire truth. Besides Bradley and Mr. Durant, Pluckney, Sommers, Frances and the stenographer, Maize O'Brien, were the only ones allowed at the examination.

"I want you to understand, Mr. Bradley," declared the steel man before they began, "that I and my plant are entirely at your service. I am as anxious as you to find just where the blame lies, and if any men in my employ are responsible I can assure you they will be punished."

Bradley bowed.

"I am convinced of your sincerity," said Mr. Durant, "and I shall take full advantage of your offer."

"When do you wish to question first?" asked Durant.

"Marsh," replied the secret service man promptly.

The owner of the plant immediately sent a boy to call the head draughtsman.

"And after Marsh?" he suggested.

"We might as well have the names of all the witnesses, so we can call them quickly," Bradley smiled.

"The second witness will also be Marsh," said Bradley.

"And the third?" suggested the puzzled steel man.

"Marsh again," came the grim reply.

Mr. Durant looked up surprised, a little startled.

"You have settled on Marsh, then, as the guilty man?"

Bradley shook his head.

"Oh, by no means, Mr. Durant. I am merely getting at the truth."

Pluckney had been sitting grimly, his brows drawn down, listening to the talk of Durant and the secret service man. Now he broke in with some impatience:

"I don't think this is treating Marsh fair, Mr. Durant. This detective's attitude is apt to prejudice you against a capable and proved faithful workman."

Mr. Durant turned on Pluckney, surprised.

"I don't think, Edward," he said, "that I am apt to be prejudiced against a good workman merely because he's asked a few questions. Mr. Bradley may want to ask you some questions, but I don't think that can prejudice me against you."

Before Pluckney could reply Marsh entered. He was in his shirt sleeves, having just come from his desk, and he stood beside the door, looking about the room furtively, suspiciously, fearfully. Mr. Durant smiled in friendly fashion, for Marsh had worked many years at the plant, and he liked him immensely.

"Marsh," began the steel man, "this is Mr. Bradley of the United States secret service. He wants to ask you some questions about forging the Sommers gun. I want you to tell him everything you know in connection with that affair."

"Yes, sir," replied the head draughtsman, but his tone was so weak that Pluckney, fearful of his fellow conspirator's strength and courage, broke in almost angrily:

"Marsh was not in charge of that job, and consequently he— Bradley turned quickly. His gaze was just as keen at the works? You've never invented a gun yourself, of course? And the one thing you do know is that Mr. Rhinestrom is the inventor of the gun you are in charge of forging. You are sure of that, aren't you, Mr. Marsh?"

Take your time. Don't be in a hurry with your answer. All we want is the truth. Now, you know Mr. Rhinestrom is the inventor of the gun, don't you?"

There was so much satirical contempt in the way the question was put that the cold sweat broke out on Marsh's forehead. He looked helplessly at Pluckney and in his hard eyes read desperation, but not despair. Pluckney, cocked though he might be, still had all the courage of the really big villain. The sight of his gaze helped Marsh to falter out his answer.

"Yes, sir."

The next question was entirely unconnected.

"What royalty does Rhinestrom receive for the gun, Mr. Marsh?"

There was a long pause. Marsh looked about helplessly. Quite obviously he was going to pieces. Pluckney knew that question must not be answered. It meant everything. If Marsh told what he thought the real royalty might come out and the true inventor, in desperation and anger, would blurt the truth. It must be stopped. Pluckney springing to his feet, "This is ridiculous," he exclaimed. "These questions are all silly. What does Marsh know about all this? How can Marsh know anything about royalties?"

Bradley turned to the owner of the works.

"Mr. Durant, will you kindly tell Marsh what royalty you pay this Rhinestrom?"

The steel man looked puzzled, angry. He did not understand the drift of the questioning. He had not the slightest suspicion that Marsh was the real inventor of the Rhinestrom gun, and so, quite naturally, he looked on the questions regarding royalty as entirely unnecessary prying into a business secret. For a moment he did not reply, and Bradley repeated his question. Then Pluckney broke in angrily.

"I thought Mr. Bradley came here to inquire into the Sommers gun," he sneered.

The secret service man kept his temper as he turned to Mr. Durant, to speak in a tone of polite regret.

"You invited me here, Mr. Durant, to ask some questions as I saw fit to get at the facts concerning the destruction of a gun. Do I understand you refuse to answer the first question?"

Mr. Durant hesitated.

"But this is a private business matter," he protested at last. "I see no bearing in that question on the matter to be investigated."

Bradley shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm sorry," he said regretfully. "I ask it only for Mr. Marsh's information."

"What has Marsh got to do with what I pay for patents?" exclaimed Durant angrily.

Bradley, still unflinching, turned to Marsh with a smile.

"Suppose you tell him, Marsh," he suggested.

"Nothing at all, sir," the inventor muttered hastily.

Pluckney would have broken in again, but the detective stopped him sharply with a gesture.

"Wait," Marsh, can you tell me straight to my face that it would mean anything to you to know that Mr. Durant pays a royalty for the Rhinestrom gun of a thousand dollars an inch?"

An expression of amazement swept over the face of the head draughtsman.

"One thousand?" he gasped; then he stopped short, looking at Pluckney venomously. "The chief conspirator caught the look and realized his danger."

"Marsh won't believe," he cried hastily. But again Bradley cut in, stepping between Pluckney and the other, so that neither could see the other.

"Keep quiet, Mr. Pluckney," he demanded sternly. "I can prove what I say. Now, Marsh, what do you say to a royalty of a thousand dollars an inch?"

The little man was past the stage of fear now. He saw the whole truth. He realized how he had been duped. He had only to tell the truth and ruin both Pluckney and himself, but then he hesitated. To tell the truth—what would that mean? It would mean state prison, possibly and disgrace, and Marsh was not big enough to take great revenge. Finally he looked down.

"Nothing," he said at last.

"Nothing," denounced Bradley.

Again Mr. Durant interferred.

"Mr. Bradley," he exclaimed sharply. "I see no reason for your questions or your attitude. I can't for the life of me see what you are getting at."

"Let me," supplemented Pluckney, sneering. "I've had experience with Mr. Bradley's style of bluff."

Bradley paid no attention to the general manager, but turned, speaking to Mr. Durant, but looking at Marsh.

"I will explain, Mr. Durant. Lieutenant Sommers is an honest man. It is to him and the girl he loves that Mr. Pluckney and your wife and I and a score of others owe our lives. Tomorrow he is to answer in Washington for an accident in which two men were killed and others maimed and crippled for life. One man is totally blind. A sharp intake of breath and a gasp of horror from Marsh made him pause, then repeat over solemnly with emphasis: "One forever and ever blind, a lad of twenty, who must grope his way through this world to the end of his day." Marsh was shuddering now, for the picture brought up to him that other lad of twenty, his own son, who had died blind. With inexpressible coolness Bradley continued:

"I know Lieutenant Sommers is blameless in this affair, and I am here to find some one to answer the cry of justice which comes through the tears and sobs of the mothers, sisters and

The stenographer already had taken her departure. Sommers and Frances were alone.

"Let us go away," she murmured. "Take me home."

SOME PENN AND CARLISLE GLADIATORS AND FOOTBALL SCENE ON FRANKLIN FIELD

These are the days when every corner lot in all this broad land has its dust begrimed squad of budding football kluge rolling one another in inviolate heaps to the resounding yell of the coaches and the short, sharp, military-like signals of the captains. Tens of thousands of sturdy youths, filled with the pride of strength, are it the good, husky game, the very dangers of which are responsible for most of its popularity. The broad cheated, howleged gladiator of the gridiron is king today, and he will continue to reign until the Thanksgiving turkey is a pile of bones. Interest centers in the games that are scheduled for October 30. On that day West Point and Harvard clash at the Military Academy, Annapolis and Princeton at the home of the middies, Minnesota and Chicago at Minneapolis and the mighty Pennsylvania eleven and the Carlisle Indians on Franklin Field. The Indians have shown up well under excellent coaching, and Penn is faster this year than last. The lineup of the Redskins for that contest probably will be as follows: Left end, Newashie; left tackle, Wasenka; left guard, Germain; center, Jordan; right guard, Burd; right tackle, Garlow; right end, Kennerly; quarterback, Captain Libby; left halfback, Leclair or Sosan; right halfback, Wheelock; fullback, Bousier.

WRECKS TRAIN; SAVES CHILD

Engineer Knapp Applies Emergency Brakes and Tragedy is Averted. Willits-Barre, Pa., Oct. 25.—In saving the life of twelve-year-old Mary Mullin of Ashley John Knapp, engineer of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, caused a wreck which blocked the road for several hours and which will cost the company about $4,000. His heavy coal train was going down-grade when he saw the little girl crawl out from underneath a passenger car on a siding and start across the track in front of the coal train. As she did so she saw the engine, and, stricken with fright, fell in a faint directly across the rails.

Engineer Knapp jammed on the emergency brakes with all power, stopping the locomotive as the tip of the pilot touched the girl's dress. The sudden stop caused the train to buckle, however, and several cars were wrecked. One was hurled off the track and upon a passing freight train under a bridge, wrecking one of them. The child was unhurt.

SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS

Agency of Rheumatism Overcome by Rheuma, and A. A. Clarke Guarantees It.

Buffalo, July 19, 1909: "For seven years before taking Rheuma I suffered greatly with rheumatism in my hip, and at night was scarcely able to lie down to sleep. Less than one bottle of Rheuma cured me, and I believe this is the best remedy known for rheumatism." Mrs. Alice A. Brown, 39 Kane street.

Rheuma will drive the uric acid from your system; will renovate the kidneys, and put new energy into them.

Already the news of the cures Rheuma has made has spread the country over, and humane victims in Connellsville appreciate the enterprise of A. A. Clarke in securing such a truly great prescription.

Rheuma relieves rheumatism so quickly that it gains the confidence of the patient in a few days. A. A. Clarke thinks so well of it that he sells it on the no-cure-no-pay plan, and on that basis every rheumatic sufferer in Connellsville ought to ask for Rheuma. The price is only 50c a bottle. ## EMMANUEL GREETED NICK Enthusiastic Throng Witness Meeting of Monarchs.

Raccoon, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Never before in the history of Raccoonville have its citizens had such vast throng of visitors and witnessed such display and pomp as on the occasion of the meeting of Czar Nicholas of Russia and King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. Despite the extraordinary police precautions and the military measures to protect the lives, both of the czar and the king, the outward manifestations of the public was at least a cordial and spontaneous welcome to the head of a friendly state.

PROTEST MEETINGS PAID

Rome, Oct. 25.—The socialists and anarchists who tried to stir up trouble by holding meetings to protest against the visit of the czar utterly failed, the people generally ignoring them. Deputies Cossatti and Morgar made violent speeches at a meeting at Turin, but the bulk of their audience were policemen.

WESS SUES WHITLA

Youngstown Man Was Held in Kidnaping Case.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 25.—As an echo of the Billy Whitla kidnaping case James P. Whitley, father of Billy, has been served with a summons in a $10,000 damage case brought against him by Joseph Wess. Wess was detained by the police here at the time of the kidnaping case because his description was believed to answer closely that of the kidnaper.

He is suing for alleged false arrest. Service was obtained while Mr. Whitley was here attending a meeting at Trinity Methodist church. Wess has already brought suit for heavy damages against the Perkins Detective agency.

SWINDLER CAUGHT.

His Victims Were Chiefly Physicians and Undertakers.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Physicians and undertakers in numerous Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia towns will read with interest of the arrest of William D. Stafford. Their acquaintance with him consisted in handling the alleged agent of an accident insurance company $2 as an advance payment on their policy. They also had promises of considerable practice and business being thrown their way.

Stafford is now in the Allegheny county jail. He was placed there early yesterday morning by Daniel Hunihan of East Pittsburgh, an inspector for the State Insurance department, who has been chasing him over three States. Receipts in his possession showed that Stafford has lured many Western Pennsylvania physicians and undertakers.

"I am in correspondence with the railroads now about trains and I think we shall have several and visit sections of the State where we could not penetrate last year."

The West Penn Awards Two Prizes For Best Guesses at Industrial Fair.

The prizes awarded by the West Penn Electric Company and the West Penn Electric Company for guesses during the Industrial Fair at the Armory last week have been awarded. The railway department offered a book of 100 tickets to the person making the nearest guess of the number of tickets and transfers contained in a jar that was exhibited. The electric company awards an electric iron to the person making the nearest estimate of the paid admissions to the fair during the week. In both contests the guesses came close to the actual number.

Superintendent of Transportation J. W. Brown today announced the winners in his department and it was necessary to offer a second prize. Dana Wright, son of F. W. Wright of East Main street, came nearest to guessing the number of tickets and transfers in the jar. The actual number was 9,652, and the lad came within 101 of it, guessing 9,753. Little Elizabeth Miller was only five numbers away from the Wright lad's estimate, her slip reading 9,705. Because of this close guess Mr. Brown decided to give the girl a book of 50 tickets. She is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. B. H. Miller of South Arch street.

District Superintendent C. L. Cotton of the West Penn Electric Company announced that the electric iron goes to Mrs. S. D. Dobbie of Race street. The actual paid attendance during the week was 1,362 and Mrs. Dobbie estimated it at 1,355. No other guess came any where near the correct figure.

There were 690 guesses as to the number of transfers and tickets, and 369 guesses on the electric iron. A large number of people hesitated to make an estimate on the attendance, because they had nothing on which to base their estimate. The guesses on both ranged from up into the millions to a lonely nine. James Hradigan of Fayette street guessed there were 9 tickets and transfers in the jar, while one person returned a slip estimating the number at 28,000,075.665. The highest guess in the iron contest was 10,000,000 and the lowest 301.

In the ticket contest 10,000 was a popular guess, and it was not so very far wrong. Policy numbers such as 7-11 and 4-11-4 were not uncommon.

COLLEGE BOY'S WEDDING COMING TO COLONIAL

Theatre For Two Performances Under Auspices of Ladies' Auxiliary of Y. M. C. A.

Unusual interest is centered in the forthcoming benefit at the Colonial theatre, October 25 and 29 under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. The large cast is well hearing steadily, and those who have been privileged to witness the excellent work of the principals, under the direction of the author of the play. Talented people of the city are developing splendidly and G. Bruce Dredack—professional director of his amateur productions for 15 years, promises that the members of the Connellsville cast will more than surprise their friends by doing the work of professionals, and will compare favorably with the casts which have made brilliant successes in the largest cities.

The story of the play has exceptional charm. A young college boy, from an aristocratic family who are social leaders, in camping in the Green mountains with a large party of friends, besides an equal number of college girls with their society chaperone.

The young man meets an unsophisticated but dainty country girl, living on a nearby farm. His infatuation develops, until he is willing to sacrifice his fashionable friends, social standing, fortune, and adopt the simple life to win her. To the consternation of his friends he announces his engagement. The marriage proceeds in spite of the protests of the young man's mother, who arrives at the farm the morning of the wedding. She is shocked beyond endurance and declares that she will disown him leaving him penniless. A pathetic incident discloses the young girl's genuine devotion—greatly touched and because of her love for her son, the mother waves aside her worldly ambition and unites them. In the last act, which occurs five years later in the Adirondacks, society is shown at an evening lawn party. The young husband, who has searched Europe and America for his young wife, is presented by the hostess to the honor guest—a young woman whose wit and charm has captured the American colony in London, and who is one of the late debutantes in the Back Bay set, Boston. The husband falls to recognize this wonderful being as his wife, until in a charming scene she reveals her identity.
